PONZI WINS FIGHT AGAINST STATE TRIAL

FEDERAL DECISION STANDS

State Court Trial Delayed Pending Appeal to U. S. Supreme Court

Charles Ponzi today won his fight to avoid trial in the State court on charges of conspiracy to commit larceny and larceny.

Judge Dodge, in the United States District court refused to order the motion allowing the attorneys for the little Italian wonder to enter an appeal from the decision of Judge Morton denying a writ of habeas corpus.

Immediately after the ruling was handed down Attorney-General Allen, who had attended Ponzi's hearing, with Assistant District Attorney Wilfred H. Dunker, started for Superior Court chambers to find Judge Fessenden was holding court in Salem. Ponzi's attorneys were also there and it is expected that the case will be argued before the State court tomorrow morning.

Should the decision go against Ponzi, it is expected that he will be arraigned.

Ponzi's attorneys were going to the Supreme Judicial court in Boston today and should he lose there, it would be necessary for him to go to Salem to appear before the State Supreme Court. Should the latter court also decide against Ponzi, he will be arraigned in the Superior criminal court in Suffolk county.

Here's Jack Dempsey's "Fighting Face"

In the preliminaries his sparring partners seem to back right away from the champion when he puts on "you lose" expression.

A splendid photograph of Champion Dempsey in action made at his training quarters in Atlantic City, N. J. Big Larry Williams, Bridgeport heavyweight, is retreating before the furious onslaught of the champion. Dempsey has begun the real heavy work in preparation for his title bout with Carpentier, and each day will gradually increase his boxing schedule.

PROVIDENCE MAN IS SHOT TO DEATH

Providence, May 31.—Gabel G. Silva, fifty-five years old of Spicer street, North Providence, was shot and killed in the door way of his home by a man whom the police say is Alfred Pina of No. 11 Conant street, Pawtucket, R. I.

According to the police the shooting resulted in a quarrel over "moonshine." It is said that Pina went to Silva's home during the evening and that while there the men quarreled violently.

They started for the yard to settle the dispute and Pina went out first, Silva followed and as he was about to step out of the doorway, Pina, it is alleged, drew a revolver and fired two shots both of which struck Silva in the head killing him instantly.

After the shooting Pina fled. Chief of Police Hall of North Providence ordered the call of the police of the entire State in a search for the murderer.

Pina is described as about forty years old, five feet, six or seven inches tall, about 160 pounds, thin face, light drooping mustache, wearing a brown suit and a straw hat. Both men are said to be Portuguese. The police say that when they entered Silva's home they found mask and other evidences of "moonshining."

SWAMPED BY GIANT COMBER

Esperanto's Former Skipper Explains Sinking—Thinks Crew on Elsie II

The missing fishing schooner Esperanto, reported sunk off Sable Island, foundered under the impact of a huge comber, which broke over her, filling her cabin and forecastle and, adding to the weight of 200,000 pounds of salt fish she was carrying, sent her to the bottom.

Such at least is the opinion of Captain Marty Welch, who commanded the schooner on her notorious race against the Nova Scotian schooner Delawana last Fall.

Captain Welch, who arrived today on board his own schooner, the Thelma, with the first mackerel of the season, was shocked when told of the fate of his old command.

He refused the theory that the Esperanto was making her way to port with a big catch of salt fish when overtaken by a heavy sea. He was in those waters himself late last week, and reports that treacherous seas were running Friday and Saturday.

He believes, however, that Captain

Fleeing Thief Is Shot by Police

Several shots were fired today when four patrolmen surprised two men carting liquor from the cellar of John R. Diggins of No. 71 Mayfield street, Dorchester.

One of the men got away after a chase. The policemen emptied their revolvers at him as he jumped a fence and ran down Mayfield street. At least one of the shots took effect, as considerable blood was found on the fence.

One of the robbers was cornered in the cellar, while drawing whiskey from a huge cask.

He gave his name as Isaac Berley, thirty-one years of age, of Cambridge street, East Cambridge.

The men had removed several hundred dollars' worth of liquor.

QUEEN OF REVEL SOUGHT

Mrs. Kingston May Be Brought Back to Testify in Allen-Tufts Row

Mrs. Lilian Kingston, former mistress of Mishawum Manor in Woburn, will probably be brought back from Cuba to testify concerning the famous "chicken and champagne" party which has such a prominent place in Attorney-General Allen's campaign to oust District Attorney Tufts of Middlesex.

She is the only woman who can tell the complete story of what transpired in her home the fateful night of March 6, 1917.

On that night, the Attorney-General is expected to contend, leading motion picture magnates and girls participated in an orgy at Mishawum Manor, and she presided.

Some time later, it will be alleged, a partial story of the night's doings came out, the motion picture men be-

BAR PUBLIC AT AT SACCO TRIAL

Suspected Slayer and His Alleged Confederate Guarded at Dedham Court

Heavily guarded and handcuffed to officers, Sacco and Bartolomeo Bangetti were taken to the Dedham Court today to face trial for the murder of a South Braintree paymaster in April of last year.

The public was excluded from the courtroom during the ill wind of jurors. The only woman permitted to enter was Mrs. Rosina Sacco, wife of one of the defendants.

Mrs. Cornee Carmen Jack, representing the New England Civil Liberties Committee, accompanied Mrs. Sacco to the courthouse, but was not permitted to enter the special session of the Superior court where trial was to be held.

At the opening of court, and before the drawing of jurors began, a joint conference took place between Judge

REGAN SQUARE IS DEDICATED

The memory of Corporal Charles J. Regan of Charlestown, who died from wounds received in the second battle of the Marne in July, 1918, was honored yesterday by the dedication of a square to be known as "Regan square" at the junction of Tremont and Prospect streets, Charlestown.

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Thomas R. McCoy, pastor of St. Catherine's Church, and the marker which will publicly designate the square was unveiled by Francis J. Cahill, the 6-year-old nephew of Corporal Regan, of Revere.

There were addresses by Congressman Tague, Representative James J. Mellen and Chaplain Lills of Bunker Hill Post, American Legion.

FIND MAN'S BODY HANGING IN TREE

Fall River, May 30.—The body of a man thought to be Frank Silling of Newark, N. J., was found suspended to the limb of a tree in Assonet. Inside of the coat worn by the stranger was the name of a Newark tailor and in one of the pockets was a piece of paper on which was requested that the body be sent to Newark.

CHILD ESCAPES IN 2-STORY FALL

Parents of three-year-old Jennie Bennelli of No. 76 School street, Revere are as happy as any mother and father in the country today for they still have their little daughter with them and she is still up and around with nothing to show that she tumbled from a two story window to a concrete sidewalk below except a few bruises.

MAYFLOWER OFF FISHING AGAIN

Halifax, May 31.—The schooner Mayflower left North Sydney to return to the fishing grounds. Mayflower has one hundred thousand pounds of fresh fish and Captain Lavisch says he can carry three hundred thousand.

FISHERMAN'S CANOE CAPSIZED BY "BITE"

The "largest" fish in the Charles River was almost caught when Herbert A. Munroe, fishing near Riverside, felt a tug on his line that twirled his canoe quite around and then capsized it. Six other canoeing parties received duckings when Herbert fell in.

LUNG PUNCTURED IN 15-FOOT FALL

John Costello, an employe of the Park department, fell 15 feet into an ash pit near the aquarium in Marine park while lifting an ash barrel into a wagon. He was taken to the city hospital where it was found he had compression of the brain, both legs and several ribs fractured, and a punctured lung. His names on the danger list.

Costello is 65 years old and resides at No. 42 Vinton street, South Boston.

WOMEN DANCERS TO WEAR GINGHAM

Miss Anita Weinstock, president of the Women's Trade Union League, and Miss Rose Eckenstein, a member of the Boston Telephone Operators Union, and a director of the league, will give a "gingham dress dance" this evening in the Lewis Bungalow, Mattapan, for the benefit of the league. All the girls will wear gingham dresses made in members of the shirt Waist Makers' Union out of material bought by the union and sold Wednesday and Thursday at the girls' city Club, No. 8 Newbury street.

BABY KILLED IN 3-STORY FALL

Manchester, N. H., May 31—Ronald W. Remillard, eighteen months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Remillard of No. 375 Kelly street, was instantly killed when he pitched through a window and fell three stories, fracturing his skull. The boy was standing in a chair and losing his balance plunged through the window before his father, who was beside him, could prevent.

GIRL BATHERS DEFY POLICE

New York, May 31.—The first big ocular treat of the summer season drew a enormous crowd of sightseers to Long Beach, L. I. More than 1,000 girls defied the police order against one piece bathing suits. The chief of police was in despair and issued new orders to feminine bathers saying: "You may blister your backs all you want to but you must cover your legs from now on."

WOMAN HELD AS RECKLESS DRIVER

Pearl Jackson, charged with reckless driving, Miss Vida H. Eagar, of No. 19 Hancock street, Worcester, Mass., was arraigned in the Municipal court of Brookline today by Officer Wright in the absence of Judge Dodge. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $50 and costs, or three months in jail. Miss Eagar was arrested after a machine she was driving struck the rear of a parked automobile owned by Mrs. Jarvis, of Hancock street, Wollaston. The machine was damaged to the extent of $100. The injured car was owned by Dr. Frederick Pawlowski of No. 19 Hancock street, Wollaston. The machine driven by Miss Eagar was owned by Dr. Pawlowski. The latter boy was the driver of the car at the time it struck Herald.

HARVARD MAN IS GAY AT ARREST

Paul Jackson, twenty-six years old, a Harvard student living at No. 27 Hancock street, Wollaston, Mass., was arraigned in the Municipal court of Brookline today by Officer Wright in the absence of Judge Dodge on a charge of operating an automobile without a license.

He also sought to borrow a camera so that he might have a picture of himself behind the bars of the police station. He told the officers it was the most fun he had had in many a day.

After securing bail he invited all of the officers at Station 9 to dine with the captain down out to dinner.

CHURCH WORKERS MEET AT SHARON

A general discussion of rural survey work features the follow up conference of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches at Sharon today. Churches in towns of less than five thousand inhabitants were represented. Dr. Mark A. Dawber, secretary of the Home Missions Council, Rev. William Chauncy Brown, Norfolk county church organizer, and Rev. E. Talbmadge Root, State supervisor of the rural survey.

Home Cooking Relied Upon to Win for Champion

Food won the World War.

Will it win the world's championship battle between Jack Dempsey, American title holder, and Georges Carpentier, idol of France and champion of Europe?

His other fighter a superior diet which will help to put him into better condition than that of his opponent?

In order to find out the Boston American sent representatives to the camps at Atlantic City and Manhasset. They interviewed the cooks and learned on what kinds of food the fighters are training.

Later the diets were submitted to Dr. Dudley A. Sargent of the Sargent School of Physical Education, who declared Carpentier's to be the best, and Miss Eunice Clark, dietician of the Household Nursing Association, who preferred Dempsey's.

Today the Boston American tells of Dempsey's diet. Tomorrow there will be an article on Carpentier. On following days their diets will be discussed by Dr. Sargent and Miss Clark.

By HARRY DENWELL

Plain "grub" and a lot of it, is the chief rule governing the diet of Jack Dempsey, who is a hearty eater, according to Mrs. Lizzie Hutchinson, the culinary genius of the Atlantic City camp.

Despite that fact, however, there are certain things which the American heavyweight does not eat, or only in small quantities, such as potatoes and pastry.

Dr. Williams, a woman teaching shorthand at Columbia University, says better literature would make better people.

The "Elizabethan type of literature made the people tingle with new life," she says. But Dr. Williams is mistaken. It is the people that make literature, not literature the people.

When you look at a literature in the books or newspapers of a period, you have before you a looking glass reflecting the people of the period.

London, May 31.—Irish circles in London today interpret the announcement of Premier Lloyd George that the crown forces in Ireland are to be strengthened as meaning a large increase in the Black and Tans rather than the regular troops.

They also see in the announcement a coming proclamation of extending the martial law to the whole area of southern Ireland.

The Premier's statement is regarded as a confession of failure and that the situation is worse than it ever has been.

What Big Fighters Are Eating in Preparing for Bout

Below are sample menus showing the diets of Dempsey and Carpentier:

DEMPSEY	CARPENTIER
Breakfast — Fruit, cereals, eggs, bread, tea.	Breakfast—Omelet, bread, and jam, cafe au lait.
Lunch—Chops, vegetables, bread, tea.	Lunch—Steak, vegetables, bread, pastry.
Dinner—Roast chicken, vegetables, bread, cake, tea.	Dinner—Soup, roast lamb, vegetables, bread, pastry.

POINTS OF CONTRAST IN DIETS

Eats few potatoes.	Eats potatoes freely.
Drinks only tea, at all meals.	Drinks coffee, but only at breakfast.
Eats very little pastry.	Eats pastry freely.
Heavy eater.	Light eater.
Eats much bread.	Eats little bread.

SAMPLE MENU FOR A FOOTBALL PLAYER

Breakfast—Fruit, cereals, two boiled eggs, toast, coffee.

Lunch—Soup, chops, potatoes creamed, bread, fruit, cake, milk.

Dinner—Soup, roast mutton, potatoes baked, vegetables, fruit, bread and butter, custard, rice or tapioca pudding, water.

Drinks Large Amounts of Water Daily

He knocked about with his two police dogs, played baseball with the sporting writers and generally kept himself in the pink of condition for the big bout, occasionally in the late afternoons he rode the famous bay horse and, of course, swam in the ocean. He drank large amounts of water, however, despite the humors of the throng which quite gathered.

When he first started training Dempsey missed the enjoyment of salt water bathing, as he did not care at that time to go into the sea. When this became known, however, the management of the Ambassador Hotel placed their salt water pool at his disposal. As a result the champion boxer is now enabled to take his early morning plunges in private, the exclusive establishment are in.

In addition to his two bathings Dempsey also has a fondness for drinking water, according to Mr. Hutchinson, and consumes large quantities daily. But it is the home cooking, she believes, that will be largely instrumental in winning the championship for him.

WARNS GIRLS OF OLD HUBANDS

Mrs. Harper, "Love Nest" Bride, Says 70-Year Bachelors Are Worst

By HAZEL CANNING.

"There are very many poor prospects for old bachelors," said Mrs. Harper, for the very poorest of all is the seventy-year-old bachelor.

Mrs. William S. Harper, young bride of seventy-two, would have had two till June 4 to pay her initial bills or go to jail, authority for the statement.

Mrs. Harper is twenty-eight year old. Her husband is some years over seventy and, with a couple of years ago, had never been married. Then he induced the little sighing maiden to become Mrs. Harper.

"My wedding day was the busiest day in my life," comments the youthful bride, as she sits beside her husband's bed in the Boston City Hospital.

A frail little invalid, he smiles with a trace of boyish pride as he says, from her seventy-year-old husband, she sits ailing all day long, wearing the look of one who knows her happiness and her health are at stake. Her husband's warning to her during their brief courtship was this: "Mind, above all, shun a bachelor as you would sin, for he's a poor bet. I've been one for seventy years and I'm a widow now."

But on that day a month ago when he visited the City Hospital for the first time, he would—but he didn't—tread even the outer edges of matrimony. And the woman who goes against those rules will repent it, as I do, to agony and tears."

FACES VENDETTA SLASHING CHARGE

State Police officer Joseph Ferrari arrested Rocco Domaldo, 23 years old, address unknown, charged with assault with intent to kill Louis Arone on March 18, in Belmont. He is alleged to be one of the men who entered Arone's tailor shop and cutting mark of an Italian vendetta on the proprietor's face.

Arone is in the East Cambridge jail charged with the murder of Dominic Falcone early last month.

CHUMS IN DIVING CRASH DROWN

Watertown Boys Victims of Unusual Accident at Magazine Beach

Dazed by the shock of a head-to-head collision when one diving from the high side of the pier, Gaetano Vilsey and Pramon Grudie, sixteen-year-old chums of Watertown, were drowned off Magazine Beach, Cambridge, yesterday afternoon.

The unusual accident was witnessed by a series of bathers near the raft and several went to the assistance of the boys. Attempts to revive them by diving failed, however, and a rescue boat was sent out in the speed they were towed ashore.

Patrolman Proctor and lieutenant Hannah of the Metropolitan police finally recovered the bodies after an hour's work, using grapnel hooks. One of a pulmotor failed to revive the victims.

GETS DIVORCE AND REWEDS

Boston boy friends started to-day that Robert Thomas Moore of Philadelphia, neighbor of Mrs. Lucy A. Shaw of Boston, who died in 1920, had been divorced and remarried.

Moore was formerly a member of the Boston Symphony orchestra. He has married Miss Lucy Belle Bolger of New York, stage director of Joseph M. Gaites' musical shows.

Mrs. Moore's former husband is a Detroit physician.

Gras, all of the First Engineers, will be the judges in these events. The inspection will be by the State Adjutant General and his staff and Captain Wilhelm Siver, U. S. A.

SEEKING $250,000 TO HELP BABIES

Salem, May 31.—Determined to make the North End Babies' Hospital a year-round institution with a capacity of 100, more than 500 residents of Salem and nearby cities have started a campaign to secure $250,000. The hospital starts its Summer season Thursday, when a number of sick babies will be admitted.

DISPENSARY DRIVE IN FINAL STAGE

The final drive to put the campaign for $217,500 for the Boston Dispensary over the top was started today. The half-way mark has been reached and with renewed effort on the part of the canvassers it was expected to reach the full amount secured by Saturday.

Charges Officer Killed Self for Peggy Joyce

By International News Service.

Chicago, May 31.—Peggy Upton Archibald Hopkins Joyce was stripped of the glamor of jewels, millions and romance, and held up as a sordid adventuress by her multi-millionaire husband, James Stanley Joyce, in an answer filed today to Peggy's petition for $10,000 a month temporary alimony.

Startling exposures of Peggy's alleged past were made by Joyce in the most sensational answer ever prepared in a divorce case.

The most startling charge made by Joyce was the revelation of a hitherto sealed chapter of Peggy's life—the story of his own life by an enamored army officer in New York after an affair with Peggy. Joyce charges in his bill that this army officer, desiring to show to whom Peggy's favors gave by sending her inordinate wearing the jewels, established suicide in a New York apartment.

Of almost equal interest is the charge of Peggy's flight with Joyce's chauffeur to Pittsburgh. Hopkins, it is also instrument. The letter was exposed by Peggy during an interview granted last week to a representative of the Chicago Evening American.

Joyce charges that Peggy, while Archibald, asserted proudly she had been divorced in Denver in May, 1912, in a statement. He declares that Peggy obtained the decree that freed her from Archibald after she had left the city. A copy of the signing given in the letter.

REPORT WAR ON U. S. SHIPPING

Rumors of Mutiny and Strike Said to Be Part of Plot to Kill Marine

An unfounded rumor of a mutiny on the steamship Susquehanna, formerly a German ship, and a strike on the Princess Matoika were evidence of a depression prevailing generally on American trans-Atlantic steamship lines, an official announced today.

The rumors, it was explained, that hostile propaganda directed against the ships were sent there in London and that the company's boats were barred from stopping at Queenstown for coal and supplies.

The failure of the rumor regarding the Susquehanna to be realized when the Susquehanna, in command of Captain W. H. Brown, docked at Commonwealth pier after a successful trip from Bremen, which sail left May 18.

Captain Brown, his officers and crew declared that the rumors were absolutely unjustifiably declared that the rumors were absolutely unfounded and that entertainment was substituted for the order of any kind. Captain Brown declared that the rumors were absolutely unfounded and that entertainment was substituted for the order of any kind. Captain Brown declared that the rumors were absolutely unfounded and that entertainment was substituted for the order of any kind.

The rumors were being made ward was received from the company's office stating that a message from the Princess Matoika, express from Wilhelmshaven, Germany, had been received by the agents of the company in this city, stating that a serious strike had occurred aboard the vessel.

Hostile propaganda was the explanation of an official of the immigration department of the company. This was considered probable to get rid of returning from Europe to America is continued.

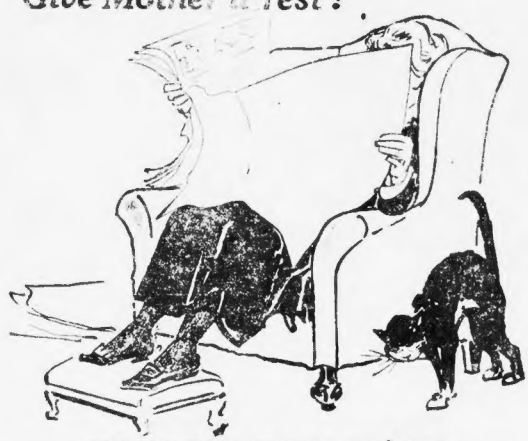
Give Mother a rest!



HEINZ

OVEN BAKED BEANS

with Tomato Sauce

Mother may be young or Mother may be old—but three times a day, 365 days a year, the question of "What to eat" faces her with regularity.

Mother's meals are always the very best meals in the world. But for fifty years, skilled experts in the spotless Heinz kitchens have been making good things to eat—as pure and wholesome as the good things made in Mother's spotless kitchen at home.

Heinz Baked Beans are baked the way Mother bakes them—in real ovens. The real bean flavor preserved by this method blends deliciously with the distinctive tang of Heinz famous Tomato Sauce—and the result is complete goodness.

A thousand and ninety-five meals a year! My! that means a lot of work for Mother! You'll give her many a restful hour by eating Heinz Baked Beans. But first of all, you will like the beans—like them so well that you will never tire of them. Eat them often!

SERVICE

Service that is entirely satisfactory to our patrons has been the paramount consideration or basic principle upon which this great institution was founded, and which has helped to bring it to that degree of development which makes it the service to the buying public that it is today.

Realizing the tendency of the times is to produce and create business along more helpful lines has prompted us to make an extra effort to improve our service.

Therefore, beginning Tuesday, May 31, and continuing until Monday, June 6, inclusive, we shall conduct a campaign to stimulate increased and improved service to our patrons.

Under the direction of our Department of Education, and with the complete co-operation of our entire organization, plans for this campaign have been worked out which are replete with novel and interesting ideas.

There will be appropriate prizes awarded to sections winning special distinction for improved service, appearance and increased results.

By means of this intensive campaign, with your help, we are hopeful of improving our service greatly, not for this one week only, but continuously.

Our patrons can help us in this respect by bringing to our attention any suggestions they may have by which we can improve our service to them, or by calling to our attention any cases of poor service or lack of attention on the part of the personnel.

On the other hand, a smile, a word of praise and appreciation, when good service is rendered, will help us to accomplish the greatest of our objects—improved service.

But Bond Bread baker men don't "pat"

NOT a finger touches the pure Bond Bread dough. Bond Bread men neither pat nor knead. Shining steel machinery does that far more thoroughly and cleanly than human hands ever could.

And does that mean that all the romance has gone out of the bakery?

Not a bit of it.

TO Bond Bread baker men there is more romance than ever. They do not feel that they are mixing flour and milk—they're mixing happiness.

They think of their work in terms of the thousands of little bodies that Bond Bread strengthens—of the chuckles, the romps, and the ruddy cheeks of the youngsters they help to feed.

AND they know what goes into Bond Bread—they know that the "Bond" on each wrapper speaks true when it lists each pure ingredient and guarantees them all.

From that Bond, Bond Bread is named.

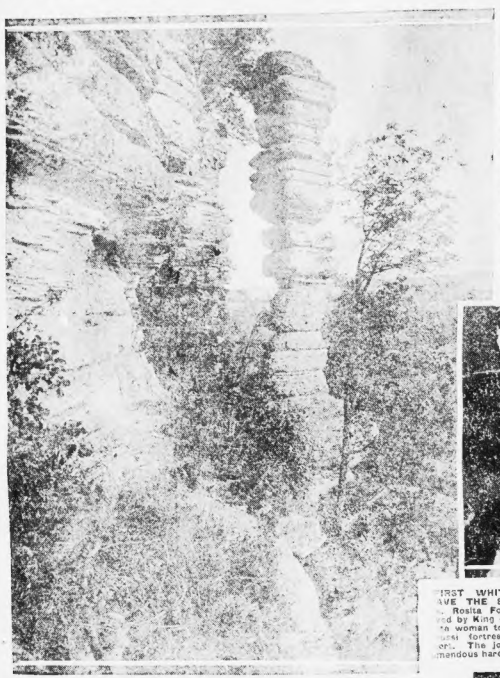
Fads, Facts and Freaks in the Day's News From Boston to Sahara



CURIOUS TRICK OF DAME NATURE. Chimney Rock is one of the odd freaks in which Nature indulges from time to time. It overlooks the valley of the Kentucky river, not far from the famous High Bridge, another of the curiosities of the Southland. Chimney Rock is more than seventy-five feet from base to crest. It was discovered by the celebrated hunter and scout, Daniel Boone. His Kentucky home is not far away, to the left of the picture.

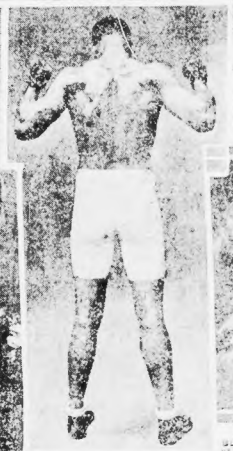
YOU CAN'T GET HER GOAT Cause why? Cause it's not and never belonged her. She is Miss Mary Elizabeth Allenus of Philadelphia, she was snapped at the Devon Horse Show.

FIRST WHITE WOMAN TO CROSS THE SAHARA DESERT. Miss Rosita Forbes, recently received by King George as the first white woman to reach Kufra, the desert fortress in the Libyan desert. The journey was one of tremendous hardship. (International)



CLOSE-UP OF DEMPSEY'S PACK. Here are shown the muscles that drive home the sledge hammer blows for which the champion is famous, and which has cowed Jess Willard.

SUES TIRED OF WEDDED BLISS. Mrs. William Harvey, wife of a well known Boston broker, whom she is suing for maintenance. One of her pet names for him was "Petticoat Junior." That speaks for itself, she says.

"THE NITTY KIT." Latest novelty for the feminine. Helen Darling, young picture actress, is showing how easily it can be used to carry one's powder puff.

CLEARING THE BAR AT THE DEVON HORSE SHOW. The photograph shows Sir Linton, of the Sunnybrook stables, going over a hurdle during the tryouts of the hunter class in the recent exhibit in Philadelphia. The show was given for the benefit of the Bryn Mawr Hospital. Large crowds of society folk turned out, and the affair was a pronounced financial success.

GERALDINE HUGHES, of Brockton, the three-year-old dancer whose skill has evoked the admiration and amazement of all who have seen her. She's been dancing three months and knows many difficult steps.

DANCING CARMENCITA, at the "Bathing Girl Night" held in the Hotel Commodore, New York. She is pretty Graciella Palma, a California girl.

HE'S 10 YEARS OLD. is John Rochford, of No. 35 Harriet street, Brighton. He was just forty when the Civil War broke out and he can well remember the stir made by the discovery of gold in California but he's still frisky.

A "SUBSTANTIATED" FISH STORY FROM CANADA. This must be the limit of fish yarns. It probably is a "bit exaggerated," like Mark Twain's death. Any loyal Canadian, however, will swear that it's mostly true at that.

(Underwood & Underwood.)

CARRIES IDENTIFICATION ON HER KNEE. Miss Dorothy Lee of Long Beach, Cal., has had a butterfly tattooed on her right knee just in case of accident. She has launched an organization among the girls, each of whom has some identifying mark tattooed somewhere on her body.

SHE SMOKES WHILE SHE SWIMS. Here's Alva Fenon, one of the season's first bathers at Atlantic City, illustrating the newest British bathing fad of smoking while resting between dips. She made a tremendous hit when she appeared on the beach, clad in the latest thing in bathing suits and with Friend Pipe in full blast.

"DRIVING" THE OLD GOLF BALL ON YOUR OWN ROOF. The machine above is a new contrivance for the benefit of golf devotees who can't get out to the links as often as they'd wish, but want to keep in trim. In the picture Maurice McLaughlin, the tennis player and former champ is illustrating how the machine works. The indicator on the dial shows just how far the ball would have traveled but for the cord.

"WHY WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY"

Because: EVERY LOT ADVERTISED is priced at practically no profit for "WEDNESDAY-THURSDAY" only.

EVERY LOT ADVERTISED is dependable quality and must measure up to our standards.

EVERY LOT ADVERTISED for these two-day sales must be timely and desirable.

EVERY LOT ADVERTISED must be the biggest value of its kind to be found in New England on these days.

Our Reasons: The increased volume of business helps in turning our stocks. It encourages mid-week shopping—thus tending to equalize the daily sales. This, in turn, helps to stabilize our selling force, and, most important of all, it attracts new customers to the store.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

No puffed up, burning, tender, aching feet—no corns or callouses.

"Tiz" makes sore, burning, tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters, bunions and chilblains.

"Tiz" draws out the poisons and puts those puffs up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet, "Tiz" brings restful foot comfort. "Tiz" is magical, gladdening relief for tired, aching, sweaty, smarting feet. "Tiz" is the comfort-maker for foot sufferers. Your feet just tingle for joy. Ahhh, how good they feel.

Get a box of "Tiz" now from any druggist or department store. Find foot comfort forever. Wear smaller shoes. Keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy. A 25c box is a whole year's foot comfort for a few cents.—Advertisement.

A MOTHER'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

West Boston (Mass.)—To read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's experience is harrowing. Imagine her feelings, she would tell you, if you could see little Helen. My little girl two years old was so weak from worms that at times she was dead to the world. I was afraid giving her Dr. True's Elixir would be to make it worse. Now I would not be without it. I feel very grateful to you.

No doubt this child had some stomach trouble like millions of others. Worms have worms and their mothers don't know it. Symptoms of worms: Deranged stomach, sallow upper lip, sour tongue, offensive breath, head and tail belly, with pain about the navel, pale face, eyes heavy and dull, rolling eyes, biting of the nose and rectum, the scalp, crawling of the flesh, little red spots on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a tonic laxative and Worm Expeller since 1847.—Advertisement.

DEMPSEY LAUGHS AT WILLIE LEWIS' DOPE ON BIG FIGHT

HAS TRICK OR TWO OF HIS OWN

Says Both He and Carpentier Will Meet Men of Novel Styles on July 2

By JACK DEMPSEY,
Heavyweight Champion of the World.

[illegible]

I read a story in one of the papers today quoting Willie Lewis as saying that Carpentier will knock me out within eight rounds and that I will be unable to come back if I start reeling him. Now I am willing to admit that Lewis was a great fighter in his day and I am glad of it, for I am afraid he is going to be up against it for a couple of rounds with Billy Lewis, and I don't want to be responsible for the punishment he is going to receive at the hands of the Frenchman, because I am positive that Carpentier intends making a business of it all that happens to him.

But neither Lewis nor anybody else knows what is going to happen when I meet Carpentier in the ring. If Carpentier intends making a wonderful fight with Lewis

Neither Has Met Man Like Rival

Lewis says I have never met a fighter like Carpentier and that's true, but neither has Carpentier met a fighter like me, and we aren't ready to say if I am the man he has been looking for. In that I am able to learn and adapt myself to the style of fighting I must meet when I step into the ring. I am willing to admit that Carpentier is a wonderful fighter, but I am not afraid of him.

Only Concern Is Getting Into Shape

My only concern is getting into shape for anything. Asking Shape advice as I do, you're going to get my views on the fight, but I am going to tell you that I am going to be in the best condition of my career when I step into the ring with Carpentier, and I am going to be in the best condition of my career when I step into the ring with Lewis.

Charley White Picks Dempsey to Win

By CHARLIE WHITE,
The Clever Lightweight.

I believe the Dempsey-Carpentier fight will be one of the greatest battles in recent boxing history. The majority of people who follow the game are looking to see Carpentier win a hard battle and a decision, but judging from what I have seen of him, I consider him a peculiarly clever boxer as well, combining science and hard punishing with befitting tactics.

Although I have never seen Carpentier box, I have followed him closely for a long time and from the reports I believe him to be a clever, scientific boxer. But, although he has been a member of the ring family for a long time, he has never met a man of the Dempsey type. Dempsey is a clever boxer and a hard hitter. Carpentier is a clever boxer and a hard hitter. Carpentier is a clever boxer and a hard hitter. Carpentier

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. Forbes

BY B. C. FORBES

There are some impressive facts and figures which should help to dispel that fear so far and so far. We know the rest of a great forward movement, the majority feel.

Everyone is eagerly looking for aggressive leaders to set things in motion.

There is what amounts to hunger for prosperity.

Many business men feel that the financial powers have gone far enough, if not too far, in prostrating business for the sake of effecting very drastic deflation.

Bankers are beginning to sense the greater importance of hastening recovery than of pursuing liquidation further at this stage.

Comprehensive reorganization of rents are delayed and interfered with by the realization that all readjustments have not yet been effected, either in prices or wages, in numbers of important directions, but there are growing hopes that bankers and others will stimulate revival of properly readjusted industries to resist needful readjustment.

When one gets away from New York and Chicago—where the talk mostly is of the money market and the stock market—the two dreadful-ing themes of discussion, the two factors which loom as of overshadowing importance are:

First: The low prices farmers are getting for their products.

Second: The idleness of 4,000,000 or more workers.

Yet there is a positive eagerness to see daylight ahead, an intense desire to become optimistic. This is one of the most encouraging features of the whole situation.

"As a man thinketh, so is he." The American business world is now more and more working for the return of better times.

From now on the business world can, I believe, count on more encouragement, on more constructive news from leaders. So, too, can our enormous agricultural population, whose well-being is very properly exciting much concern and eliciting assistance at Washington. Fresh supplies of credit and, some say, lower interest rates are coming for the benefit alike of our farming community, our domestic industries and our foreign trade.

What of business men? What of their attitude?

Frankly, there has been an inexcusable and unreasonable amount of shortsightedness and sogginess. There has been far too much butting of heads against stone walls, or it might more aptly illustrate the condition to say that there have been too many people to sweep back the tidal wave of price readjustment. The foolishness of trying to defy economic laws becomes more clearly apparent week by week.

Let me recite one shining example of the success attending a farsighted, backbone policy. I believe in presenting such cases because, unfortunately, there still is need for bringing them to the attention of recalcitrants.

Having accepted an invitation from the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce to address its members on the outlook for business, I was placed next to a gentleman who presided, and of course we got a talking. From him and from other St. Louis business men I learned these facts:

This man's company, the largest in St. Louis and employing some 15,000 workers, did not become blindly optimistic during the hectic boom which followed the armistice. The management became convinced that the whole thing was artificial, unsafe and unsound. Therefore, instead of running in and corralling mountains of raw materials at the extortionate prices then prevailing, it brought about, they used up all their surplus reserve stocks and, the public continuing to buy, materials strictly hand-to-mouth. At a time they had to hustle to fulfill deliveries—very often shipments had to be made by the costly means of transportation, and express rolls at one stage ran into very big figures.

Then the easily foreseen crash came.

And the bottom fell completely out of the raw material market.

Corresponding to the totally unexpected and unprepared-for shrinkage in cash, it was not necessary for the company to apply the screws to the interests of employees. Wages, wages, wages of all goods ordered by its customers, it promptly notified them that the reduced prices of its goods, substantially reduced and that the buyer need take only a part of the goods. And little by little, but by designed further, another voluntary reduction was made in all goods on order, and customers were not backward about taking the goods when they could safely. This policy was continued during all the trying period last year and is still in force today.

With what results?

The company is running at 110 to 120 per cent. of normal capacity.

The production is breaking all previous records.

The orders are greater than it can cope with and are increasing rather than decreasing.

Its profits last year and again this year are the most satisfactory ever enjoyed.

It has just arranged a merger that makes it the largest concern of its kind in the world.

This company is the International Shoe Company. Its president is Frank C. Rand.

A PHENOMENAL HIT
"THE WOMAN GOD CHANGED"

Here's a real hit—the biggest hit in years—a super-feature picture that you'll rave about. It aroused the Boston newspaper reviewers to enthusiasm.

Boston Record said:
"One of the few photoplays of the season which brings to the screen not only a picture and a living story, but a mammoth theme as well."

Boston Herald said:
"Film success at Colonial. 'The Woman God Changed' has artistically few rivals."

Boston Traveler:
"Swift in action and interesting from a dramatic standpoint."

Boston Post:
"Well received by a large audience. . . . Seena Owen as Anna Jansson filled the difficult role with credit."

Boston American:
"The photography of the picture is extremely artistic, whether in the crowded court room or upon the tropic island. Miss Owen's acting is very unusual and the work of Mr. Lincoln is admirable."

Directed by Robert G. Vignola. Scenario by Dave Hobart from Don Byrne's famous story in Hearst's Magazine. The exceptionally fine cast is headed by Seena Owen and L. C. Lincoln.

Scenic effects by the famous Cosmopolitan Scenic Staff under the direction of Joseph Urban.

It's a Paramount Picture.

Europe's Rapidly Growing Debt to United States

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

It is asked what President Harding probably meant when he said in his address to New York business men:

The exigencies of war compelled the government to take by taxation much wealth from our people to be loaned to our allies. This is the basis of their obligation to us, and it is not a good form in which to hold the obligations of one people to another people.

It is altogether to be hoped that in a reasonable period we may change the form of these obligations and distribute them among all the people.

The President could have meant only that, if the ten billions of dollars now owed the United States by foreign nations, represented by notes, were replaced by government bonds issued by the debtor nations and sold in the open market to American investors, the proceeds of such bonds would be paid into the United States Treasury and used to retire Liberty bonds.

The debt could thus be transferred from the government of the United States to individual investors. Public taxation would be decreased by almost four hundred and fifty million dollars a year.

The President's suggestion is wise, but he is probably looking a long way ahead! Such a gigantic refunding operation would be impossible at this time.

Its success would depend upon the willingness of foreign governments to pay the very high rates of interest that would alone induce American investors to take these foreign bonds.

Eight per cent. is now the minimum market price for such issues, whereas the foreign governments are charged only 4½ per cent. average by our government and they are not able to pay even that.

Their debt to us is, therefore, accumulating at the rate of nine million dollars a week.

Aircraft to Japan, Sympathy for Uncle Sam

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

Britain's excuse for selling war-remnant airplanes to Japan is that we declined to let them be dumped here.

It will be remembered that a year ago Britain offered a mass of this material at less than ten cents on the dollar, and our Congress wisely voted to protect the home market.

But, ironically comments the leading British journal on aviation, the Aeroplane:

Even if we do sell our knowledge of aviation and our aeroplanes to Japan, the fact will always remain that when the war comes the Americans will have our sympathy and moral support.

Both will be valued for what they are worth.

Meanwhile British statesmanship gives no sign of abandoning renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which, though in terms defensive, would undoubtedly be construed by Japan, if at war with us, as entitling her to a partner's prior claim on sympathy and moral support.

Moreover, if this alliance is renewed, who can be sure that it will not have secret clauses like the secret treaties which Mr. Balfour concealed when asking us for help during the World War?

Japan's gain from such an alliance is obvious. Its terms assure her a free hand in exploiting China so long as Britain is admitted to a satisfactory share of the spoils.

What does Britain gain? No external foe now menaces her hold on India. Germany is disarmed, Russia eliminated.

Unless, therefore, Britain has suddenly turned altruist, to help a militaristic yellow race in fantastic dreams of conquest, there must be in this proposed extension of the alliance with Japan "more than meets the eye."

Until this mystery is solved, it would clearly be premature for Uncle Sam to lay aside his naval means of defence.

Those Valuable Leucocytes

They Eat the Tadpole's Tail

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

Teach your children to understand the phagocytes or leucocytes, the white corpuscles in their blood. Those corpuscles are the watchmen, the policemen, the military force in each body. They regulate things INSIDE the body and attack the enemies, microbes of disease, that come in and try to take possession. That is why the leucocytes are so important to health.

However, like a standing army, they become dangerous if you have too many of them. If your blood is poisoned the white corpuscles increase enormously in number to fight the enemy and when the white corpuscle army is too big you die, for they crowd out the red corpuscles, useful, working, food-carrying servants of the blood.

Long names do not interest your little boy, but he will be interested if you show him a tadpole, a baby frog with its long tail, then show him the frog a little later, with the tail almost gone, and then gone completely. The white cells, according to scientific users of the microscope, actually eat up the tail of the tadpole, thus preparing him for his higher existence on the edge of the bank.

Boston Braves Played Two Splendid Games

The Boston American salutes the Braves. The games yesterday, and especially the game in the afternoon, reminds us of the days when Boston had pennant-winning teams. It was played in the true Boston style and will be remembered for many days as a classic.

Manager Fred Mitchell has given the sport-loving people of the Hub a team that is of the highest calibre, and all of us fans will follow its fortunes with high hopes after witnessing the brand of work that his men turn out.

Water Assumes Three Forms

By Garrett P. Serviss.

THE question is asked: "In how many forms does water appear—three or four?"

It appears in three forms—solid (ice), liquid (ordinary water), and vapor (steam or atmospheric moisture). It is true that when subjected to an excessively high temperature, steam assumes a dry, gaseous state, in which a jet of it will char paper like a flame, but this is hardly to be called a fourth form, for a gas is only a vapor at a temperature higher than the critical point.

Water does not lose its essential chemical constitution until its molecules have been broken up into their two constituent elementary atoms—viz., hydrogen atoms and oxygen atoms.

When this is done, with the aid of the electric current, the water absolutely ceases to exist, having been transformed into the two "permanent gases"—oxygen and hydrogen.

But change of temperature alone does not affect the essential constitution of water. The union of one oxygen and two hydrogen atoms to make a molecule of water is a kind of chemical marriage difficult to break up. It is not a monogamous union, but a triple alliance, in which two of the members [illegible]. An ideal representation of a drop of water, supposed to be magnified millions of times, shows a crowd of spherical molecules, each consisting of a relatively large oxygen atom with two smaller hydrogen atoms attached, one on either side of it, like a pair of Sultan Solomon with a wife on each arm. All these molecules move about freely in the throng of their companions.

His Strong Point

A sudden sound of whistling disturbed the afternoon calm in and the streets of "Tin Pennies Bimmy." Bubbles floated over busy small heads here above forty small ladies.

"Which one of whistling?" remarked the leader of a committee of bad influence from the corner.

"It's just myself," answered Sandy Macpherson, with true Scottish modesty and reliability. "But ye no ken an' cud whustle!"

DON'T BE CONTENTED

"Leaving well enough alone" is all right if not carried to excess.

Many men have remained stationary through life if such were possible, just because they are satisfied to be doing pretty well or better than most men of their knowledge and acquaintance.

Contentment of a certain kind is an enemy to progress.

The contented man is not an energetic, progressive man.

But the man who is pushing constantly ahead, forward to the next place which he is to occupy, is not contented to stay but fares ahead to the place beyond—a better place.

Ambition makes men advance.

But the contented man recedes to study and work for the better things and in his contentment goes to sleep.

Together

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

WE two in the fever and fervor and glow
Of life's high tide have rejoiced together:
We have looked out over the glittering snow,
And known we were dwelling in Summer weather,
For the seasons are made by the heart I hold,
And not by outdoor heat or cold.

We two, in the shadows of pain and woe,
Have journeyed together in dim, dark places,
Where black-robed Sorrow walked to and fro,
And Fear and Trouble, with phantom faces,
Peered out upon us and froze our blood,
Though June's fair roses were all in bud.

We two have measured all depths, all heights,
We have bathed in tears, we have stunned in laughter;
We have known all sorrows and delights
They never could keep us apart hereafter.
Whether your spirit went high or low,
My own would follow, and find you, I know.

If they took my soul into Paradise,
And told me I must be content without you,
I would weary them so with my lonesome cries,
And the ceaseless questions I asked about you,
They would open the gates and set me free,
Or else they would find you and bring you to me.

Wit and Wisdom

PROTESTING TOO MUCH

Judging by the number of lecturers who are busy telling the public that there is the best of feeling between England and the United States, there must be some doubt about it.

WHERE IS WISDOM HIDING?

One of the great men of the day informs us that "more brains are needed on the farm." That puts the farm right in the city's class.

THE RESULTS OF YOUTH

If every girl had the wisdom and sedateness of her grandmother, grandmothers would soon become obsolete.

REVOLTS IN INDIA AGAINST BRITAIN

By Taraknath Das,

National Executive Secretary, Friends of Freedom for India.

THE situation in India is getting more serious every day. Earl Reading has had an interview with Mahatma Gandhi, the leader of Swaraj movement in India. He has asked Gandhi to stop the non-cooperation movement in India, but the leader has flatly refused the request.

All-India National Congress Committee, at its session held on April 1 among other things decided to raise a National service corps of ten million men and women enrolled as members of the Congress. It has been decided also that the Indian people would begin general civil disobedience as a protest against the repressive measures in India.

Women Take Part

The National Volunteer movement is progressing very fast in India. The labor movement is taking an aggressive stand, and it is expected that within this year India will have no less than three million members in the All-India Trade union movement. That women of India are taking active part in the moral and political revolutionary movement in India can be understood from the fact that in the Provincial Congress of Bengal more than two thousand women participated in the meeting and two hundred of them were elected as duly elected delegates. One most important significance of the Indian movement under the leadership of Mahatma Gandhi and All Hindustan lies in the fact that they are only demanding Swaraj or independence for India, but they want the Ottoman Empire in Asia to remain intact.

A London despatch says in part:

"Gandhi and Ali Brothers are leading an anti-British movement to have Palestine, Mesopotamia and Arabia returned to Turkey. The importance of this to America is evident from the repeated statements of the Turkish Ambassador that if they obtain control of Mesopotamia they will oust the British from control of the oil fields."

South China under the leadership of Dr. Sun has started to have an independent foreign policy for the nation which is not very favorable to British control in China and the Yangtsze valley. It has been reported that the British gunboats were recently dispatched to that region. China sees the hypocrisy of the parties connected with the League of Nations and is very favorably inclined to favor Russia and Asia and given cold shoulder to concessions and schemes of influence in China.

British antagonism to Japanese commercial expansion in Asia is becoming acute. Japanese statesmen are quite aware of the fact that, although the Anglo-Japanese alliance may be renewed, is not a guarantee for the Japanese position in Asia. It is felt that the Anglo-American understanding against Japan may come into existence any time, in spite of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The speech of Colonel Harvey and the proposal of mobilization of the entire American fleet in the Pacific and the support given in the Senate regarding Borah's proposal for disarmament have made Japan nervous.

Calls Conference

This has resulted, according to a dispatch of May 19, that Japan has called an extraordinary conference of her statesmen and generals familiar with the situation in the Far East to revise Japanese policy in Asia. It has been suggested that Japan is working for an alliance or understanding with China. She has begun to withdraw her troops from certain parts of China and is tending to extend a more liberal form of government to the people of Korea. Japan is afraid of isolation in world politics, as she is already faced with an industrial and labor crisis.

The British Empire is being threatened in Asia and India, and Japan is watching the latest developments with keen interest. To many oriental statesmen it is very obvious that, while Britain is talking for Anglo-Japanese alliance, the underlying British policy is to have an Anglo-American-German understanding under the guidance of Britain.

Japan is mortally afraid of the day when British diplomacy may attack Japan with the combined fleet of Britain and America. Japan is looking toward America and East for a friendly understanding.

THE WAR AND SO-CALLED PROBLEM OF 'EVIL'

By Dr. Charles Fleischer.

THE war has caused us to revise many of our traditional ideas.

The rules could not pass through the war's travail without being asking some of its old questions.

No more ridiculous example of this particular war and no more glorious one of war in general can present an inquiry such as the present dilemma of the world involved in all the horrors of death and misery with which we have suddenly become more intimately acquainted.

It is not impiousness or skepticism, but the reverent desire to know and understand which has caused thinking minds to ask such questions as "What of God? Where was He?" In God alone? What is God's purpose? What is God?

Simpler Query

This is no effort to answer such queries.

Happy the millions who have traditional and satisfying responses to their questionings!

There is a simpler query. What is the meaning of evil? That is a problem which any one may face the writer's answer to this exercising question.

Evil, as a human question, has associated freedom of will but no necessary relation to theology.

We do not know that we asked for the right of moral contingency and in itself, apart from any belief. Latter we can remarks this problem of evil.

The mind hastens to assert and says that the thought that, whatever be the origin of evil, it is a problem in metaphysics, but a challenge to human beings to face and to conquer.

Then we must add, that man himself has created the problem of evil, perhaps this accounts too for the fact that no one wants to suffer.

You recall the story of the little boy who, when asked by his mother what he was so busily drawing, said: "I'm making a picture of God."

"My dear!" the mom knows what God looks like," said the mother. Nevertheless, touched replied: "But they will know when I get through."

No need to belittle God and to confess that we do not understand what evil means. The problem is simply that it seems. God is and may also exist.

Let us take for granted the existence of God. Equally let us take for granted that we mean by evil anything which does not lead to continue the two into a queer dilemma, as though we could not believe in God and accept God as the Maker of good, or say we are good if only you will accept God.

That combination by most metaphysicians has imposed upon man his really most perplexing problem of practical philosophy. The problem of evil is invented for us by their asking: how a knowing, loving, just and potent God can allow the horrible and iniquitous of our human world. It is not for the writer to attempt the answer. Indeed, he would not even take such a question.

Real Question

The real question (not ruling a God out of existence, but—as already said—taking Him for granted) is: how Man, having become so intelligent, loving and powerful, can still allow and produce conditions which make for injustice and suffering and the miserable aggregation of Evil.

That is what is meant by the suggestion, that, if we divorce the certainties of human conduct and social relations from the speculations of metaphysics, evil ceases to be a theological problem and becomes a fact to be dealt with by our wisdom and our will.

The war has made not only our soldiers, ponder these ultimate questions, but, because it has deepened the thought and feeling of the whole race, it is sure to revise the moral standards of the race.

From universal nature our human problem learns that essential evil is death and essential good is life.

If, therefore, we want life, we must learn the laws of life. To such knowledge we must add the will to use it, which constitutes Wisdom.

Thereafter, the conquest of evil becomes a positive process: the organization of individual activity and of social relations, on the basis of knowledge and in the spirit of good will, in such successful fashion as to minimize suffering, sickness and sin and all which constitutes our supposed problem of evil.

Let us all join in this holy war, practical and constructive, making ourselves partners of God in the creation of God.
